HARRIMAN HEIRS GET ESTATE

Last will and Testament Leaves Bulk of the Property to Family

New York, Sept. 14.—E. H. Harriman's will is filed today at Goshen, N. Y., in the office of Surrogate J. B. Swezey. Although the members of the family have already heard the provisions of the document, they have been carefully kept from the public; but it is known that the great bulk of the financier's estate is left to his wife and children with generous legacies to his faithful employees.

Former Judge Robert S. Lovett, the closest of the late E. H. Harriman's business associates, is today in the place of the great railroad man in the directorate of the Union Pacific railroad. He was elected chief executive by the directors at a meeting at No. 120 Broadway.

Union Pacific melon cutters will share in $20,000,000, according to a statement made today by a prominent director of the road. This statement coming shortly after the meeting at which Jacob H. Schiff and William D. Rockefeller were chosen to succeed the late Edward H. Harriman and the late Henry H. Rogers, is of great interest to Wall street, which since the death of the great financier, has been greatly interested in the prospects of "melon cutting," either by segregation of the Union Pacific's vast holdings in the bonds and stocks of other roads or by some other equally efficient and profitable vehicle.

POLICE COURT

Three cases were heard before Judge Simms in police court this afternoon.

Fred Sweet charged with larceny of paint brushes was held for superior court and bonds of $100 required. Daniel Norton on two complaints of drunkenness got a sentence of six months each at the farm.

James Williamson, drunkenness, six months at county farm, costs $6.90.

MRS. MARK KIMBALL

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Kimball died

late Monday at the home of Simon R. Martin, No. 46 State street. She was aged seventy-eight years, the widow of Mark Kimball.

GOING TOGETHER

Portsmouth and Amesbury Will Go in a Special to Somersworth

The veteran fireman of the Franklin Pierce association will join the Amesbury association in the trip on Thursday to Somersworth.

They will meet the Amesbury vets on a special train that passes through here early in the morning to which the handcar Eureka will also be attached.

The Portsmouth red shirts are out for a piece of money this time and are certain they will win one of the prizes.

LOCAL DASHES

Malone has begun work on a state auto road which eventually will extend from Portland to this city.

Warmer weather is promised: We certainly could stand a few days of warmer weather this month.

Each step taken for mother adds to the time she will be with you to enjoy the deeds of love and to cheer you with her smile.

For any pain, from top to toe, from any cause, apply Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Pain can't stay where it is used.

EVENTS OF ELIOT

Two New Homes are Soon to be Occupied

Two Well Known Citizens Who are on the Sick List

Eliot, Me., Sept. 14. Maurice S. Leach returned on Monday afternoon from a week of vacation passed in the woods of Carroll county, N. H.

Edwin F. Tohey has been dangerously sick but is somewhat better. Mrs. J. M. Goodwin of Dover is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles E. Primmerman.

The entering class at the Eliot high school numbers seventeen which is five less than the entering class of a year ago.

Fred Wilson, agent for the Tarbox Express company, is having a vacation this week and is making preparations to move into his new house at Kennard's corner.

John W. Remick continues, dangerously ill. Mrs. G. Suel Ramsberg of Somersworth, N. H., has been visiting her parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Samuel Dixon.

George Kennard is having a sick turn. Mr. Kennard's new house at Kennard's corner is nearly ready for occupancy.

John Bush of Newburyport has been visiting relatives in this town.

The recent statement of State Entomologist Elmer F. Hightings of Waterville raises doubts as to whether the browntail caterpillars are responsible for the present destruction among fruit and shade trees. At least one pest is very destructive just now, so destructive in fact that the hairy little caterpillars are seen ravenously eating the bitter leaves of willow and alder trees and bushes and even of burdock and smartweed. Prof. Hightings' statement, as sent to some not people, says: "Our orchardists are complaining very loudly just now about the brown tail moth among their trees. They are mistaken. It is the fall web worm that is now troubling them, but this pest is even worse than the brown tail. In the first place the two moths look exactly alike and one is apt to be mistaken for the other. Both are white and both took their flight at the same time a few weeks ago. When their wings are closed it is about impossible to tell them apart, when spread it can be seen that the web worm moth does not have the brown end to its body. Many people were deceived by this fact when the great flight was on a few weeks ago. The brown tail got credit for being the whole how when as a matter fact it was only part of it. The brown tail hatches early in the season, May and June being the favorite months. The web worm comes mostly in July, August and early September. It is these pests that are now working. They are the worst in many respects of all orchard pests as they spread a web ahead of them as they work and this prevents the usual sprays from reaching them. It sheds water like a rubber covering. The caterpillar is hairy and a ravenous eater. At this moment the whole state of Maine is covered with them and nothing but constant warfare will prevent them from destroying of our orchards."

Washington, Sept. 14.—Secretary of State Knox is giving special attention to the development of the commercial interests of the United States in Latin America, and to that end has created in the state department a new division to be known as the division exclusively to those matters. He has appointed Thomas C. Dawson of Iowa, United States minister to Chile, as chief of the new division and William T. S. Doyle as assistant chief.

The statement is made that the increasing investment of American capital in Latin America and the obligations resulting from closer political relations between this country and those of Central and South America impose upon the department a state one of its heaviest duties.

To deal with these opportunities to foster and facilitate legitimate American enterprise and to protect American property and property rights in Central and South America Sec. Knox has created this new division.

Mr. Dawson was appointed secretary of the United States legation at Rio de Janeiro June 28, 1897; minister resident and consul general at San to Domingo April 29, 1904; minister to Colombia Jan. 10, 1907, and minister to Chile April 21, 1909. By reason of his long residence in South America Mr. Dawson is thoroughly familiar with Latin-American affairs.

Mr. Doyle is a lawyer who has traveled extensively in South America and acted as private secretary to Mr. Root while the latter was on his tour of South America. At present he is in Venezuela as special representative of the department for the collection of evidence.

Water Getting Low

Peverly Brook Needs Rain and May Run Dry

The water at Peverly Brook is running low and unless we have some rain within a few weeks the brook will be pretty near on the dry list.

Should the rain fall to come it will be necessary for some of the manufacturing plants and the railroad to obtain a supply from the Sherburne springs and consequently will be a big pull on the city supply.

THE JEWS' NEW YEAR

Begins at Sunset on Wednesday

Looking backward for 40 centuries, the modern Israelite, or, as he is more commonly termed, the Jew, sees an unbroken custom by which his people annually observed through their periods of national glory, or vicissitude a season of holy days, beginning with the celebration of the Jewish New Year.

On Wednesday, Sept. 15 at sunset the year 5670 will begin. This is, according to the tradition of the rabbis, the number that indicates the years since the creation of the world as recorded in the Book of Genesis. The Jewish New Year is probably the most ancient holy day observed by any civilized people. The Day of Atonement comes 10 days after the New Year begins, and following the fast observed on this day is the Feast of Tabernacles, which covers a period of seven days.

The Day of Atonement is a fast day to atone for sin, while the Feast of Tabernacles is a reminder of the time when the Israelites were brought out of the land of Egypt and dwell in booths before reaching the promised land of Canaan. The origin of the season of holy days dates back to the Pentateuch, where chapter and verse may be cited to show the antiquity of the custom.

The day of blowing trumpets in the seventh month (Tishri) is referred to in Leviticus, xlii, 23, 24, 25, and in Numbers, xxi, 1. It is commanded in Leviticus, xvi, 29, that the Day of Atonement shall be observed as "an everlasting statute," and "to afflict the soul" on the 10th of the seventh month. The Mosaic law also provided a penalty for the non-observance of this day of fasting, declaring that "every soul not afflicted on that same day shall be cut off from his people, and every soul that works on that day will be destroyed from among his people."

The 15th day of the seventh month was set apart for the beginning of the period of seven days covered by the Feast of Tabernacles. This was originally a feast to commemorate the bringing of the Jews out of Egypt and was made a season of rejoicing after the fruits of the earth had been gathered.

It would be surprising if the ritual and customs established in the early history of a nation that was hoary with age when the power of the ancient Greeks and Romans was only beginning to make itself felt, had undergone no change. In the shadow of the sacred Temple, while Jerusalem was heaving in its golden age and the power of the Israelite nation was respected throughout the world, the conditions for the observance of the religious fasts and feasts were far different from those of the present day. And yet the season of holy days has retained much of its original significance through all the varying experiences of a people that was scattered over the face of the earth.

The devout Hebrew turns toward his "high places" at the approach of sunset on Sept. 15. There may be the synagogues where the wealthy have provided rich furnishings, plate, and silver, or the observance of religious ceremonies, or corners in some attic where the worshippers seek communion with their Maker. Some of their prayers, like the Lamentations of Jeremiah, are the utterances of distress because of national calamities. The advent of the new year is announced by the blowing of trumpets, originally the ram's horn, and in many modern places of Jewish worship the solemn notes of the great organ or the blast of the cornet have replaced the ancient instruments. The impressive services in the synagogues are followed by a round of congratulations. Many of the more strictly religious celebrate two days of the new year, the second being observed largely in a social way.

On Saturday, Sept. 25, the celebration of the Day of Atonement begins at sunset, 10 days after the new year opens. The faithful go to the synagogues and remain there for 24 hours without food or drink, except for the time spent at home in sleep during the period of fasting. By the rabbinical law, children and invalids are exempted from the rigorous observance of the fast. The remarkable retention of the national characteristics of the Jewish people in all lands is said to be owing, in a great measure, to the sacredness with which the Day of Atonement is regarded.

Modern life and modern conditions have wrought perhaps, a greater change in the methods of observance of the Feast of the Tabernacles than in the manner of celebrating any other of the holy days observed by the Jews. The reasons for this are seen in the nature of the occasion itself, which is one of general rejoicing rather than of solemn worship. It is hardly practicable, especially in this country, to dwell in booths or tents for a week in imitation of the manner of living pursued by the Jews while wandering in the wilderness after leaving Egypt. In sunny Pal-line, the city of Jerusalem was literally invested with an army of pious pilgrims dwelling in tents who came up to the temple once a year to the great feast, sojourning in the neighborhood for a week.

Some of the faithful, however, are accustomed today to erect booths outside their dwellings, where the members of the family partake of a few meals while the weather is propitious. Synagogues occasionally construct large booths in the courtyard for the accommodation of the Sabbath school children, where they eat cakes and fruit after the services, and in some instances the tendency is to make of the Feast of the Tabernacles a sort of Harvest Festival for the special entertainment of the children with addresses, songs and music adapted to the occasion.

The great mass of the Jewish people who observe the religious customs on the race pursue their observance with a fervor that has always been characteristic of the Israelite nation.

DOVER DOINGS

Dover, Sept. 14.—When Charles F. Hayes walked from the Maine state prison at Thomaston on Monday, he was immediately placed under arrest by Sheriff Smith of Dover, charged with forgery. Hayes told the sheriff that he would go along peacefully and would not attempt to fight extradition. He was sentenced in Portland, Jan. 27, 1908, for two years at hard labor for cheating by false pretenses. His record during his term in prison has been excellent, and he was allowed the usual time off.

Officers Cornell, Scanlon and Chelley, arrested Joe Labre and Joseph Pearault at the Boston and Main station on Sunday and the two got thirty days each in police court on Monday. Labre and Pearault who had been in the station for some time, were around the station making rough house. When the officers went to arrest them they put up a fight.

Sunday evening as the Salvation Army was holding one of their services on the upper square, Sarah Caristy butted into the service with yells and other vociferous behavior, and she was finally arrested as she was intoxicated, and prevented the people from going on with the service. She was fined $11.76 which she paid.

William Nason was arrested on Sunday by Marshal Adams for selling liquor to one James P. Dolan, a barber. Nason got a pint of liquor for the man and also gave him a couple of drinks. Dolan is being held as a witness, as he disclosed on Nason. It is understood that Dolan is wanted by the Rochester officers on an assault charge.

Richard A. Drew, a well known and highly respected resident of this city died on Monday, aged 70 years and 7 months. Besides his wife he is survived by one son, John S. Drew, the well known carriage builder of this city; one daughter, Mrs. Anna M. Fields of Lynn; one sister, Mrs. Charles O. Baker of this city. The dead man was for many years engaged in the carriage business, retiring recently and turning the business over to his son.

The members of Company 4, Coast artillery, of this city, received their pay on Monday evening for the two weeks that they were in camp in Portsmouth in July. It has now been almost two months since they got back from camp.

The funeral of Mrs. Josephine Lucy was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Holt at Durham on Monday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Taine of the Congregational church was the officiating pastor, and interment took place in the family lot at Durham.

The Belknap Congregational church held another service Sunday, which was attended by many people who have no regular church home. Rev. T. Pitts preached well on the subject, "Boldness."

The stone arch below the Central avenue dam of the Pacific Mills company, which is to take the place of the span bridge, is well under way and the masons are making good progress with the work.

Edward J. Achroyd, who has conducted a shoe store on Washington street for the past four years, has sold his store to the Outlet Shoe company of the Bay state. Another transfer in the shoe business was recently closed, when G. E. Nash sold out his fine store on Central avenue to the All-American Shoe company.

MAY HAVE STATE SHOOT.

Concord, Sept. 14.—The governor and council will hold another meeting in this city next Friday, and in addition to discussion the proposed route of the west side state highway, it is understood that the governor and council will determine the question of holding a state shoot in Manchester early in October.

It is understood that a number of the prominent military officials of the state have taken the matter in hand, believe that the wherewith all can be found to warrant the shoot as usual. Probably some of the military men will be here on that occasion.

"A Stubborn Cinderella" Next
Muri H. Singer, the manager of "A Stubborn Cinderella" company which will be seen here on Wednesday evening, Sept. 15, at Music Hall, tells the secret of how they secure the prettiest and brightest chorus girls of any aggregation on the road.

At the beginning of the season there were over 2000 applicants for the chorus and a well known New York manager asked Mr. Singer one day why the girls preferred to go with instead of Detroit, however, in Greenock, Scotland, where she played a variety of parts in the course of the season. Very soon, being offered an opportunity to appear in London, she went to the great city and was enlisted in the company at the Globe Theatre, of which the late Adelaide Neilson was the leading actress. Here she made a success with the part given her in a version of "Fedora," entitled "The Life Chase." Miss Coghlan's next engagement was with Toole, in whose company she stayed a year and then his attractions rather than with any other.

"Well," said Mr. Singer, "it's just like this, I give them more salary than any other producing manager. In the summer (time I have a school for acting at Chicago and New York and the girls come there absolutely free. They learn to dance and sing; they are free to go anywhere they want after they are through. I give them my confidence and they appreciate it. I never speak roughly to a chorus girl. I pay them more money than they make anywhere else. If a girl runs short of funds I never turn her down. This year if all our attractions are successful financially or any one individually, the girls never lose anything by it."

"We cut a watermelon. What I mean is, they come in for a good time. If a girl is sick or hurt, I look after her. If anything happens to any of their kin, I am here to assist them in all possible ways. I have chaperons back with the show looking after them. That is the secret. I treat your employees nicely and they will always reciprocate. That's the secret."

In "A Stubborn Cinderella" company are 50 show girls, the pick of the metropolis.

Over 5000 applicants wanted to join this aggregation.

"A Traveling Salesman" Next Saturday

Rosalind Coghlan, who will appear in "The Traveling Salesman," which comes to the Portsmouth Music Hall next Saturday, is said to be one of the most skillful yachtswomen in the United States, and possesses a 15 foot catboat that was exhibited last year in all the races held by the Atlantic Yacht club for craft of that character. Miss Coghlan is the daughter of the famous and distinguished actress Rose Coghlan, who is one of the most interesting personalities on the American stage and earned a high reputation in England, her native land, principally through the interpretation of high comedy parts. Several years before she was seen in this country. She was a young girl when she made her first appearance on the stage. Her part was one of the witches in "Macbeth," and according to her own story, she was so frightened when her turn came to speak that she forgot her lines and ran off the stage. She made a successful debut, however, in Greenock, Scotland, where she played a variety of parts in the course of the season. Very soon, being offered an opportunity to appear in London, she went to the great city and was enlisted in the company at the Globe Theatre, of which the late Adelaide Neilson was the leading actress. Here she made a success with the part given her in a version of "Fedora," entitled "The Life Chase." Miss Coghlan's next engagement was with Toole, in whose company she stayed a year and then ing, with the special attraction of incidental music written for the revival by Arthur Sullivan.

Miss Coghlan was next approached by Mr. Barry Sullivan, under whose management she played leading parts, principally the heroines of the English classic drama. Then going to the St. James Theatre, London, she appeared as Lady Manden, being the first to play the part in "All for Her," by Mr. Herman Merivale, author of "For-rei-Me-Not." The piece was a remarkable success, some of which, it is but fair to assume, was due to Miss Coghlan's performance. It earned a run of 400 nights, and of course made Miss Coghlan more widely known in the profession and to the patrons generally.

Mr. Lester Wallack, who had had opportunities to measure her attainments while she was playing in his theatre a few years before, sent for her to come over as leading lady in his company. She accepted his offer and began her engagement on the opening of the new Wallack's Theatre as Lady Teazle.

Rosalind Coghlan, like her illustrious mother, has a fine physique, a clear resonant voice and possesses to a marked degree that indescribable power called personal magnetism, and attracts at once the undivided attention of her audiences.

Booker T. Washington at Food Fair
"Every grade of music from the Inflammatus to the plantation melody is well given by the versatile Tuskegee Institute Jubilee Singers. The melodies are wonderfully well done; the plaintiveness of some airs and the sensuous beauty of others, coupled with the soul of the singing, fills the hall, deep and sweet and irresistibly pathetic, the notes prolonging themselves with weird effect. This excerpt from "A Day at Tuskegee" is a word picture of the negro vocalist at his best, retaining all the wonderful song power for which his race is noted, with the added beauty and power that comes from cultivation and training.

The managers of the New England Food and Home Furnishing Exposition—a term synonymous with "The World's Greatest Food Fair," which opens in Mechanics Building, Boston, September 27 and is to continue for five weeks, are receiving much praise for securing as a stellar attraction the Tuskegee Institute Jubilee Singers, the picked vocalists of the 1600 students at Booker T. Washington's world famed negro college at Tuskegee, Alabama.

Five concerts will be given every day in Paul Revere Hall and at the same time Charles Winter Wood will describe the splendid growth and wonderful results accomplished at this Institute, and the life work of the leader of the negro race, "The teacher, the writer, the man of affairs, the man of common sense, Booker T. Washington." Without doubt Mr. Washington will be present during the Exposition and describe the uplift given his people by the Tuskegee Institute.

The other attractions of his great Exposition are Marco Vassella and his band of soloists (first appearance in New England,) Belle Yeaton Randrew and the famous Bostonia Woman's Orchestra of fifty pieces, a moving picture theatre with all the latest films, and an Old Time Circus, arranged and managed by J. W. Gorman, the best known amusement purveyor in New England.

All this in addition to the 400 exhibits, some of which are most elaborate and all of which are of intense interest and educational value to the purchasing public.

It goes without saying that an exposition dealing thus generally with the public and crowded with features of special and general interest will achieve a phenomenal success.

BRITISH FLEET COMING

New York, Sept. 14.—Word was received last night that the British fleet of warships which is to come here for the Hudson-Fulton celebration under the command of Admiral Sir Edward P. Seymour, had begun its journey. All but the inflexible are expected to reach here Sept. 23. The inflexible will arrive the day after.

The fleet will anchor off Sandy Hook, but no salutes will be fired according to the present plans until the fleet with the other foreign ships sails up the Hudson on the morning of Sept. 25.

Seventeen vessels of foreign powers, their guns booming out salutes, will then steam up the river and take up their allotted places north of 42nd street.

Following the rendezvous the smaller vessels which are to constitute the parade will sail around the great international fleet, and the replica of the Half Moon and the Cleopatra will be escorted up the river and formally presented to the celebration commission.

Great Britain is to send four vessels, one of which, the Inflexible, is an armored cruiser of 17,250 tons and she will carry the flag of the admiral. The others are the armored cruiser Drake and the armored cruisers Duke of Edinburgh and Argyle.

Germany's four warships will be the cruiser Victoria Louise, flagship of Grand Admiral von Kestner, and cruisers Hertha, Bremen and Dresden.

France is to be represented by three turret ships, in command of our Admiral Jules L. M. Lepord, who will fly his flag from the Justice. The other ships are the Liberty and the Verite. They probably will arrive at Hook about Sept.

LOVETT HEADS UNION PACIFIC

It Means Strengthening of the "Harriman Idea"

LOREE TO BE PRESIDENT

Will Look After Operating Part of Railroad Business, but Position of Lovett Carries Great Responsibility—Southern Pacific Directors
Likely to Follow Suit—Morgan Interests Not Represented

New York, Sept. 14.—The continuation, temporarily at least, of the Harriman policies in the management of Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and the chain of allied railroads, was made certain when Robert S. Lovett, E. H. Harriman's personal counsel and close friend, was elected to succeed him as the head of the executive committee of the Union Pacific railroad.

L. F. LOREE.

To further strengthen the dominance of the "Harriman idea," Jacob H. Schiff and William Rockefeller—both heavily interested in the Harriman enterprises—were elected directors in place of Harriman and the late H. H. Rogers, respectively, and were chosen to places on the executive committee.

The Union Pacific still remains without a president, as Harriman occupied this position also. It is understood, however, that an operating man—probably L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson—will be elected for the place at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held on Oct. 12. Proxies for this meeting already in the hands of Lovett and Alexander Miller, secretary of the Union Pacific, seem to guarantee that the election will be dictated by the Harriman interests.

The office which Lovett has assumed is the most important in the management and financial supervision of the Union Pacific. Lovett's close associations with Harriman, particularly during the last weeks of the latter's life, make him, in the opinion of the Harriman lieutenants, peculiarly fitted to assume the responsibilities of the position. He and Loree, the slated candidate for the presidency, share the honor of a close familiarity with Harriman's plans and dreams for the undeveloped territory over which he hoped to push the ascendancy of his railroad systems.

The directors of the Southern Pacific will meet today. It is taken for granted that their action is fully forecasted by yesterday's meeting and that Lovett will be seated as chairman of that executive committee also in Harriman's place, with Jacob H. Schiff or some other partner in the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. at his right hand as director and member of the executive committee.

Wall street manifested more than usual interest in Monday's election in view of the rumors to the effect that a member of J. P. Morgan & Co. would be elected to the Union Pacific board. No such change developed, and as it stands today the executive committee remains, in the parlance of the street, a "Kuhn, Loeb-Standard Oil" board. For besides Lovett, Schiff and William Rockefeller, the members are H. C. Frick, President Huggitt of the Chicago and Northwestern, and Frank A. Vanderbilt of the National City Bank, New York.

The failure of the Morgan interests to gain a place on the reconstructed board was a surprise to Wall street, where last week's rumors had been given general credence. It is pointed out, however, that possibly the Morgan interests, fearing disastrous results from any radical changes now, may have purposely postponed the selection of a representative until the regular annual election in October.

LAST DAY OF VACATION

President Leaves Beverly This Afternoon to Be Absent Many Weeks
Beverly, Mass., Sept. 14.—President Taft gave up his golf game and all official business Monday and devoted himself to preparing for the long western trip which really has its beginning when he motors into Boston this afternoon to attend the banquet of the chamber of commerce. The president will spend the night in Boston, leaving there for Chicago at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

President Taft will leave Beverly this afternoon. Mrs. Taft will accompany her husband on the seven-mile journey into Boston and as soon as the president alights at the hotel in Boston where he will stop overnight Mrs. Taft will return to Beverly.

It is now Mrs. Taft's intention to remain in Beverly until Nov. 13, when it is expected that the president will arrive here to take her back to Washington.

The executive offices in the board of trade building will close this afternoon. All of the clerks and attaches will leave for Washington on the 2:27 train.

Toulon, France, Sept. 14.—M. Paulhan, wishing to pay a visit to the Chateau d'Anting, some miles distant from the aerodrome, pointed his aeroplane in that direction and flew leisurely cross-country, settling gently near the entrance to the chateau.

After chatting for a short time with his friends, the aviator remounted the seat and flew back to the aerodrome. He was absent for about an hour and a half, and tremendous enthusiasm greeted his return. The crowds gathered around him and bore him in triumph on their shoulders.

MAY BE CRIPPLED FOR LIFE

Delayed Explosion Sends Primer From Big Gun Into Officer's Leg

New York, Sept. 14.—Colonel Albert Todd, U. S. A., commanding the eastern artillery district of New York, was accidentally shot in the leg during sub-calibre practice with big guns at Fort Hancock, on Sandy Hook. It is not expected that the wound will prove serious, although Todd may be permanently crippled.

It is understood that during sub-calibre practice with the five-inch guns, there was a misfire, and that the gunner had opened the breech block for an examination when the delayed explosion came. The defective primer, flying backward, went into the left thigh of Todd. The brass primer was extracted from the wound and Todd is resting easily.

SCHLEY LIKES COOK'S ATTITUDE

Admiral Says Stand Is Dignified and Manly

"WHO DISCOVERED POLE?"

Secretary of Arctic Club of America Has More Faith in Brooklyn Explorer Than He Has in the "Other Fellow"—Club Will Honor Cook as Discoverer, Leaving Burden of Proof on His Opponents

New York, Sept. 14.—That Polar polemics could not only generate but maintain unabated such heat needed the proof of seeing and hearing to believe, but with Dr. Cook's homebound and Commander Peary now in touch with the correspondent, comment and criticism lack none of their previous acidity and have rather gained than lost in volume.

Previous assumption that Peary would have the United States navy solidly behind him, was not borne out in a letter from Rear Admiral Schley (retired), made public by Captain Osborn, secretary of the Arctic Club of America, of which Cook is a member. The letter, under date of Sept. 11 from Pocconau, Pa., runs in part as follows:

"I like Cook's attitude immensely in this unfortunate, unnecessary and unwise controversy. He certainly has been dignified and manly in the stand he has taken in this matter."

Captain Osborn followed up his letter from the admiral last night with a lecture on "Who discovered the North Pole?"

"Dr. Frederick A. Cook," he said, "was for two years my wife's physician. I saw him two or three times a week and we chatted many hours. He was secretary of the Arctic club while I was chairman of the executive committee. If I have ever known a man of integrity, probity, sincerity and modesty it is Dr. Cook."

"I have known also the other fellow—known him to depart from truth by large margins. A man who will open a cablegram and keep it four days from his superior, a man who could prevent the club from giving a dinner to the Duke of the Abruzzi, is capable of other things."

"He has also opened letters addressed to me. One letter opened by him he inscribed 'opened by Peary' and sent it to me. When this thing happened a second time I told him that if he opened more of my letters I should be very energetic with him."

Dr. Cook's attitude in withholding details of his discovery was attributed to his desire not to anticipate the publication of his book. "But as soon as the other claimant got within reach of the wireless," said the captain, "he sent dispatches to everybody he could think of, but delayed in informing the mother of the unfortunate Marvin, who perished during the expedition."

"Dr. Cook is but an ordinary physician," the speaker continued. "The other, being in the navy, is supposed to have received the training of a gentleman, yet when Cook heard that Peary had discovered the Pole he congratulated him. When Peary heard of Cook's claim, he wired that the doctor had handed the public a gold brick. Some men dig pits under themselves."

"There is a mystery in the disappearance of Mr. Whitney, who is coming home with Cook's papers. I think," Osborn continued, "he got on board the Roosevelt, took his letters and left for his own ship, the Jeanie, because of Peary's attitude. This matter of the Jeanie shows how Peary brags. It was heralded that the Jeanie was fitted out by the Peary Arctic club, when, as a matter of fact, the club gave only $1000 and the Whitney family contributed $6000."

After a meeting of the executive committee of the Arctic Club of America last night Dr. Stebbins, its chairman, gave the club's attitude on the controversy.

"The Arctic Club of America," he said, "has nothing to do with the controversy over the discovery of the Pole. All that the Arctic club recognizes is that Dr. Cook is the discoverer of the Pole and that Peary reached there. Our only desire is to honor the discoverer. Neither side has proved its case to America, but since the Danish government has recognized Dr. Cook, we feel that the burden of proof now falls on his opponents."

"The Arctic club," Stebbins continued, "will present to Cook a gold medal, showing in bas-relief Cook standing on the top of the globe, waving the stars and stripes."

Preparations to honor Cook are more advanced than those for Peary, because the latter's arrival is more distant and his plans as yet more nebulous. Singing societies of Brooklyn have arranged to go down the harbor in a chartered steamer to welcome their hero with lyric praise. Bells will ring and whistles blow from factories, ferries and all the water craft of the bay.

On the other hand, in response to the equally great interest in Peary, preparations are being made at the American Museum of Natural History here to set apart a special section of the building for a display of Peary's Arctic collections which have been housed in moth-proof vaults for the summer.

COOK'S PROVISIONS TAKEN

Peary's Former Boatswain Tells of Strange Doings in the Arctic
St. John's, Sept. 14.—Alan Whitten, who was boatswain of the Peary auxiliary steamer Erik in 1905 and again in 1908, adds his quota to the Polar controversy. On his expedition he naturally saw much of Peary and knew of Peary's plans. He was also in the Erik in the summer of 1907, when she lay for a week at Sydney alongside the schooner John R. Bradley, in which Dr. Cook was starting for the Pole. The Erik that year went to Hudson bay for the Canadian government.

Whitten says that the Bradley was abundantly equipped for Cook's expedition, having supplies for at least three years. He confirms Cook's charge that Peary's men took Cook's provisions, adding that not only did the crew of the ship take Cook's stores that were at Etah, but boats were sent to Annotok, thirty miles distant, to remove Cook's provisions which were stored there.

Whitten admits that he does not know whether this removal was by arrangement between Rudolph Francke, who was left in charge of the provisions, and Peary, or Peary's representatives, but he thinks that in any event it was a strange thing to do, in view of the fact that Cook was then away on the ice floes and might return and find his provisions gone.

The boatswain also makes the statement that both Cook's and Francke's collections of ivory and seals, some of them very valuable, were likewise taken. He says that the trouble with Peary's previous expeditions had been the lack of supplies. Instead of remaining away for three years, Peary was compelled to return after about fifteen months, the real reason, Whitten declares, being that he did not have enough supplies to remain longer.

ROW ON THE ROOSEVELT

Men Said to Be Angry Because Hanson Was Given Place of Honor

Sydney, C. B., Sept. 14.—The crew of the gale-bound Roosevelt at Battle Harbor are reported in dispatches received here as to be almost on the verge of mutiny against Commander Peary.

From Captain Bartlett to the sailors, everyone believes he has a grievance, all of which Herbert Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club, declares to be imaginary.

Many stories discrediting Peary are told by members of the expedition. The most startling is that Peary reached the Pole with but one Eskimo, and it is even hinted that on the final lap he dispensed even with this witness.

The feeling against the explorer is thought to have been engendered because Peary's plan of campaign necessitated sending the men back as members of supporting parties.

To Bartlett this necessity of turning back when he had gone as far as the 88th parallel fell as a crushing blow to the ambitions of years. Friends of Bartlett resent the fact that the captain did not get as near the Pole as did Matthew Henson, Peary's negro servant.

As the members of the crew are now under some restraint in commenting on their experiences, their friends are very anxious to learn their entire narratives.

LOOKING FOR A NURSE

Sheriff Thinks She Can Throw Light on the Maybelle Millman Murder

Detroit, Sept. 14.—Few new developments have occurred in the case of Maybelle Millman, whose dismembered body was found in Ecorse creek a week ago. Sheriff Gaston is looking for a nurse, as she is alleged to know something about the case.

Today the sheriff formally asked that the county offer a liberal reward for the apprehension or conviction of the slayer of the girl.

The $10,000 bail of Dr. George A. Frith, who was arrested on suspicion in connection with the case, was renewed Monday.

Manslaughter Charged
Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—Robert Lawson, 48, who was arrested pending further investigation into the death of Francis Leonard, a Scarborough farmer, was arraigned here on the charge of manslaughter and held without bail.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES

Frank S. Poots, organist and well known as a music teacher, died at Cornwall, Vt., as a result of injuries received when his carriage went over an embankment.

Carl Wilcox of the sewing machine firm of Wilcox & Gibbs, New York, died suddenly of heart failure at his home at Westport, Conn. He was 65 years old and was a bachelor.

William Moran, the shipbuilder, a member of the firm which built the battleship Nebraska, died at Seattle. He is the fourth of the eight Moran brothers to die within four years.

SUTTON'S ARM NOT BROKEN

Contusion Over Right Eye of Young Marine Officer

WHAT AUTOPSY REVEALED

Bullet Wound Which Caused Death Was Three Inches Above Right Ear and Clean Cut, Indicating, According to Counsel For Mrs. Sutton, That It Could Not Have Been Self-Inflicted

Washington, Sept. 14.—When the body of Lieutenant James N. Sutton, Jr., the young marine officer, who met his death about two years ago at Annapolis, was exhumed at Arlington cemetery Monday, an autopsy performed by physicians representing the navy department and Sutton's mother disclosed that no bones were broken, although a contusion was found over the right eye.

It had been Mrs. Sutton's contention that her son's arm was broken during the fight which preceded his death, and that this being the case, the shot which ended his life could not have been self-inflicted.

Dr. Vaughan of this city, who represented Mrs. Sutton at the autopsy, says that the bullet wound which caused Sutton's death was three inches above the right ear and was clean cut. There was no indication that the hair and scalp had been burned by powder. Surgeon Spear, who represented the navy department, declines to make a statement, saying that he intends to report direct to the navy department.

Attorney VanDyke, assistant counsel for Mrs. Sutton, says that he is convinced that the shot was fired at least five feet from the officer's head and that the wound showed conclusively that it was a physical impossibility for Sutton to have fired the shot.

Dr. Vaughan will make a full written report of the findings at the autopsy to Mrs. Sutton today. He issued a statement for the press in which he says that he found the body in a fair state of preservation, and no broken bones. There was a contusion or bruise over the right eye. The bullet wound in the scalp was three inches above the right ear. There was no sign of burning of the hair. There were two or three cuts in connection with the bullet wound; one above the middle of the scalp, which may have been made at the post mortem or by a blunt instrument before death.

Attorney VanDyke says the autopsy disclosed that the bullet hole was made by a bullet from a 38-calibre revolver. A 38-calibre revolver was found beside the body. The hole was clean cut and there were no cracks running from it. VanDyke says that after consultation with experts in gunshot wounds he is convinced that if the shot had been fired at close range, the bullet would have cracked the skull and gone clean through the head.

Mrs. Sutton was the first person to look upon the face of her dead son when the casket was opened. After leaving the store-room where the body lay, she said to the newspaper men who were waiting outside: "I want you newspaper men to go in there and see for yourselves that his forehead is crushed."

The autopsy was made by Drs. Vaughan and Taylor, representing Mrs. Sutton, and Dr. Spear, U. S. N., representing the navy department. The attorneys for Mrs. Sutton wanted to take away the scalp to use it as evidence and to take some photographs of the body, but the navy department officials refused to allow either of them to be done.

After the autopsy had been completed, the body was placed in a new coffin provided by the government and was re-interred in the same grave after the ground had been consecrated by a local priest.

OLD CHARTER STANDS

Citizens of Auburn Conclude Not to Try New System of Government
Auburn, Me., Sept. 14.—The vote on the proposed new charter of Auburn, which would do away with the common council, all commissions except the water board, and reduce the school board, leaving practically all the affairs of the city in the hands of four aldermen and a mayor to be elected at large, was against the change, 474 to 391.

Three of the five wards favored the new charter, but ward five, which won 159 against the change, was more than enough to keep the present system.

Summer Hotel Burned
New York, Sept. 14.—On the eve of closing a profitable season the Gerard hotel, a wooden structure on the beach front at Point o' Woods, Long Island, was totally destroyed last night by fire. The flames spread so rapidly that few of the 100 guests saved more of their personal effects than could be carried out in their arms on the first trip. No satisfactory account of the fire's origin has been given.

BANKER COMMITS SUICIDE

Was Prominent in New York Club and Social Life

New York, Sept. 14.—John W. Castles, president of the Union Trust company of this city, a director of other well known corporations and prominent in club and social life, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor in the Grand Union hotel. The body was found last night by his brother, Burton S. Castles. He left no notes or instructions. His brother ascribes his act to a nervous breakdown.

Castles registered at the hotel under his own name at 4:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon and went immediately to the room assigned to him on the second floor. As his body was cold when found the indications are that he ended his life soon after closing the door behind him.

Not long ago Castles' condition became so serious that he was sent to a sanitarium, where he remained for three months under treatment. At times he returned to New York, accompanied by an attendant, and attended briefly to business matters so far as he was able. Last Wednesday he came down on what proved the last of these trips.

Castles' widow and two children are in the Adirondacks, where they have been spending the summer.

WEAVERS CLOSE BIG PLANT

Strike Because Request For Advance In Wages Was Refused

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 14.—The entire plant of the Fall River Iron Works, controlled by M. C. D. Borden of New York, which was shut down Monday, following a strike of the weavers, remained closed today and the 6000 operatives will continue in idleness.

The Iron Works plant comprises seven mills and is the largest concentrated cotton manufacturing plant in the world owned by a single individual. The weavers, numbering 1000, went out on strike to enforce their demand for an increase of about 10 percent in wages, and their absence so hampered the other departments that the management decided to close the whole plant.

WORLD BEATER AT TARGET SHOOTING

Battleship Makes Sixteen Hits Out of Sixteen Shots

Washington, Sept. 14.—Admiral Dewey's face glowed as he read the reports of the excellent work being done by the men of the navy in their record target and battle practice on the Virginia capes.

"See that record," said he, as he pointed to an unofficial report which said that the battleship Louisiana had made sixteen hits out of sixteen shots at two targets. "That is a world beater. I feel great pride in the manner in which our men have acquitted themselves."

"Our ships are fine, too. Vice Admiral Uriu of the Japanese navy, who made a visit to this country last spring, told me that the Connecticut was the best all-around battleship he had ever seen. And he has visited some of the finest ships of the world, too," added the admiral.

REDUCTION IN WAGES

Weavers in Ludlow Mills Quit Work Rather Than Submit to Cutdown

Ludlow, Mass., Sept. 14.—Labor troubles threaten to tie up the big plant of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates of Boston. The weavers in No. 8 mill, numbering 150, struck Monday in resistance of a reduction in wages of 4 percent on a cut of two yards of gunny bagging.

A committee of strikers waited upon Agent Stevens and told him their wages were reduced several months ago from 29 cents to 24 cents per 100 yards of bagging and that under the new rate of 20 cents they could not but $9 a week.

Saco Strike Ends

Saco, Me., Sept. 14.—After being idle three weeks, 2200 employees of the York mill of this town, thrown out of employment by the strike of 150 weavers, returned to work. The weavers went back at the old rate of wages.

Butter Price Rising
Boston, Sept. 14.—That the retail price of butter of the best quality will soon rise to 60 cents a pound is the expectation of Boston dealers. There is a marked scarcity of the article, and the demand is greater than ever.

MADE A THOROUGH INSPECTION OF YARD

Secretary Meyer Goes Into Every Detail and Visits All of Important
Parts of Yard---Has Returned to His Summer Home.

Secretary of the Navy, George Von L. Meyer, on Monday made one of the most thorough inspections of the navy yard ever made by a secretary of the navy.

Having passed the night on the U. S. S. Dolphin, Secretary Meyer at 8.45 Monday received Captain Frank A. Wilner, the commandant of the yard, and the other officers of the yard on board the Dolphin, and at 9.05 he came ashore. He was received on the dock by the marine battalion with the naval band under command of Major Henry Leonard, U. S. M. C., and a salute of seventeen guns was fired from the yard battery, being followed by seven guns from the Dolphin to Captain Wilner.

Secretary Meyer at once started on his tour of inspection, and it was most thorough. He visited the different shops, looked over the quay wall and the drydock; the office buildings, the naval prison got considerable of his attention; and in fact everything about the yard was looked over. He was free with questions and wanted to inspect the things for which new appropriations would be asked for this year.

At noon the secretary was taken in the power launch of the Hist to the old Wentworth mansion at Little Harbor where he was the guest at luncheon of J. T. Coolidge, the owner.

On his return to the navy yard he held interviews with the heads of the different departments about the yard, especially in regard to the work and the conditions under he new consolidation orders.

He finished his work so that he left the yard at 4.30 and came to this city and took the 5 o'clock train for his home in Hamilton. Secretary Meyer informed the officers that he would later return to the yard and make even a more thorough inspection.

NEW HELMETS FOR MARINES

Marines serving in the tropics will be given a natter appearance in camp and garrison when they receive the khaki colored helmet for which specifications are now being prepared at the office of the quartermaster of the Marine Corps. The campaign hat will be used in the field.

OGUNQUIT

On Thursday afternoon, Sept. 10, three hundred people gathered at "The Rockland" in Ogunquit, to pay their last tribute of respect to the late George A. Littlefield, proprietor of the hotel. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Lewis, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Dorman, both of whom spoke words of comfort to the sorrowing friends and paid a touching tribute to the memory of the deceased. Rev. Mr. Lewis read the hymn "Sometime We'll Understand," which seemed most appropriate on such an occasion.

The hymns "Hail Me" and "Rock of Ages" were beautifully rendered by a quartette consisting of Etta Williams, Mrs. Sadie Grant, George B. Goodale, Lucius Williams and Aaron Littlefield.

The members of the Grange and Ogunquit Lodge No. 105, Improved Order Red Men were present in a body, the latter performing the service of their order. They acted as escort to the cemetery at Wells where they laid to rest their beloved friend and brother.

The pallbearers were Samuel J. Perkins, proprietor of the St. Aspinquid, Nehemiah Jacobs, proprietor of Sparhawk Hall, Joseph H. Littlefield, proprietor of High Rock, and Aaron Littlefield, former proprietor of Colonial Inn. All business was suspended during the services and flags were at half mast on the school houses.

Mr. Littlefield was a teacher until last year when he resigned to assume the duties of superintendent of schools in Wells which position he held at the time of his death. He was principal of the Wentworth school in Kittery for four years and while there made many friends and was dearly beloved by his pupils. Six years ago he purchased "The Rockland," a summer hotel in Ogunquit.

His death is a severe blow to the father and mother who had looked upon him as the one on whom they could lean in their declining years as he was unmarried and made his home with them. This is the second son they have lost in five months.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Fremont Chase of Boston and a brother, Mr. Bert Littlefield of Chelsea.

He will be sadly missed not only in the home circle but by the entire community, for he was a man of genial disposition, and one who was held in high esteem by all who knew him, as shown by the large gathering of friends and the beautiful flowers that surrounded the casket.

The sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved parents, sister and brother.

We'll say goodnight but not goodbye. The time will not be long. 'Till we shall follow to that land Where partings never come.

Again we'll clasp our brother's hand. What a meeting that will be! With no more sickness, no more sorrow.

Thro' all eternity.

The following is a list of the floral tributes:

Mound of flowers inscribed "Son" from father and mother.

Wreath of Killarney roses, Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Chase.

Floral spray of white carnations, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Littlefield.

Academy and High School Football

The Public Schools are Reopened

Exeter, Sept. 14.

The public schools began the school year on Monday with but a few changes in the corps of teachers. The total number of scholars registered today falls a trifle short of the attendance of last year. At the high school seventy-seven are enrolled, which is a few short of last year. The only change there is the entrance of Miss Gertrude E. Barlett of Kingston, to succeed Miss Leonard R. Smith as teacher of science and English. The winter street schoolhouse has been repainted since the close in June, and other rooms have been repaired and renovated.

The high school football candidates will report for practice Wednesday, and the outlook for the team is bright. Of the last year's team only three have been lost by graduation, these are McNulty, Max Houston and Captain Doe. This leaves Ira Houston captain and an end rush; Sleeper, half back; Nar-center; Dwyer, guard; Rouse, quarter back; Light and Locke, tackles; Gilman and Churchill, substitutes. The schedule has been increased by the addition of two games with Sanborn seminary, and one with Newburyport high at that city on Oct. 2.

Fletcher N. Robinson, Harvard '09, has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of N. Wilbur Kellum as instructor of Latin at the Phillips Exeter Academy. He was graduated with highest honors at that institution and gave the Latin salutatory at commencement. He comes with a high recommendation to the New Hampshire academy. His home is in Southern Pines, N. C. Another new instructor is Herr Joh. Heddergott, the Russian exchange teacher, who succeeded Otto Mierfeldt, the instructor from that country last year. The academy sends as its exchange to that country Henry M. Shute.

John Tattersall has launched a new seventeen horse power motor boat on the Squamscott river. It is probably the fastest craft among the pumber and also among the largest, being twenty-two feet in length. The boat is easily capable of covering eighteen miles an hour, and recently made the distance from Newfields in fifteen minutes.

Thomas Kane, while cutting meat on Monday painfully lacerated his right hand dangerously.

Supt. Charles W. Rodgers of the Exeter and Hampton Electric company, accompanied by J. Everett Towle, were among the invited guests at the clam bake and outing of the Southern New Hampshire electric railway employees at Canobie lake on Monday.

Charles Batchelder, who has spent the summer at his father's hotel, the Alpine, at North Woodstock, returned to his home on Monday. His father will remain for about a month when the hotel closes.

Another football season at Phillips Exeter will begin with the opening of the school year on Wednesday. The schedule arranged by Manager D. J. P. Wingate now stands: Sept. 25, Bheavster Academy; Oct. 2, Lowell Textile school; Oct. 6, Cushing Academy; Oct. 9, Dartmouth freshmen; Oct. 16, Bowdoin at Brunswick; Oct. 20, Williston seminary; Oct. 23, Yale freshmen; Oct. 27, Harvard freshmen at Cambridge; Oct. 30, open; Nov. 6, Andover. All games save those with Bowdoin and the Harvard freshmen are to be played here. John B. Glaze of Dartmouth will again be coach. The veteran nucleus is expected to comprise seven participants in the last Andover game, Capt. Downing entering his fourth year as center, Mitchell right tackle, Way and Covey guards, Faulkner right end, Cunnell and Pearson halfbacks. Last year's second eleven and the class teams contained material of promise and more is likely to be furnished by new students as has invariably been the case in past years. All games are to be played on the Thompson field, with auxiliary fields on these fields and the old campus use for practice and by the class teams. The main gridiron, which is inclosed by the running track, is a beauty, as level as a floor and with its turf in good condition despite the protracted drought. The goal posts are of iron, painted white, and at the bottom wrapped with asbestos and duck to prevent injury of players. During the summer much labor has been expended upon the fields. They have been sprinkled daily and the area between the three diamonds has been filled in, graded and sown to grass. Football will not at all encroach upon the main diamond.

KITTERY LETTER

Letter enters school, while the former, a sophomore at Princeton, returns, after taking examinations.

AN IMPROMPTU WEDDING.

AN IMPROMPTU WEDDING.

The Message That Was Read After the Ceremony Was Over.

By HOPE DARING.
[Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.]

An automobile stopped before Los Olivos, the country home of the Hunters. Mrs. Joyce Hunter rose and went out on the veranda to meet the young couple who were ascending the steps.

"Did you enjoy your ride, Carol, sweetheart?"

"Oh, it was divine! Paradise can be no finer than San Gabriel valley in early April. The fragrance of the orange groves is overpowering, and their fences are wreathed with roses. Why, I never dreamed there were so many roses in all the world! The mesa is a flame of red-gold poppies, the rose mist of the apricot orchard slopes up to the gray-green of the olive wood and—Joyce, what is it?"

"What is it, Joyce?" repeated Ronald Strang, Carol's companion.

"It is not the poetry our dear little brown-eyed maid has been talking.

SHE TOOK OPEN THE ENVELOPE AND READ ALOUD.

Carol, there is a telegram from your Uncle James."

"A telegram," cried both Carol and Ronald in one breath.

"A telegram, my children. I know it is from him, as he sent one to Harry, asking that if you were absent from Los Olivos it might be forwarded to you. He must have sent it as soon as he received the letters telling of your engagement."

Carol sank down upon one of the porch chairs. Her fingers trembled as they unwound the mass of chiffon in which her head and neck had been swathed.

"No, Joyce," she cried, as her hostess turned away. "There is no use bringing the message. I know that it forbids my marriage to Ronald, so I will not read it."

Ronald Strang straightened his broad shoulders. "Let us read the thing and have it over with. What if he does withhold his consent? Carol, surely you will not give me up at the command of an uncle and a guardian?"

The girl threw out her hands with a despairing gesture. "When papa was dying I promised him that I would never disobey Uncle James."

"The old tyrant! What reason can he give for refusing his blessing? I know I am not worthy of you. No man is. I am a decent sort of man. I love you to distraction, and I've plenty of money to give you everything you want."

"You don't know Uncle James. For one thing he will say you are a Californian. Then I have known you only since my arrival here to visit Joyce. Two months ago. He will declare that I am too young and silly. There is no use talking, Ronald. If I ever marry you it must be before I read the telegram."

There was a moment's silence. The mind of each one of the trio was grappling with the same question. It was Ronald who spoke first.

"You blessed archangel! Do you mean tomorrow? You will never regret it, Carol."

"Tomorrow!" and Joyce Hunter threw back her head. "Tomorrow may be too late. The dragon uncle may arrive before then. It must be tonight. Here comes Harry, my own fledge lord and master horn, and he is the best hand at arrangements."

Carol began to sob. "Yes, I love you, Ronald, but I—I want a wedding. It may be my only chance."

"You precious lamb!" Mrs. Hunter smoothed Carol's disordered sunny hair with one hand while she beckoned to her husband with the other. "You shall have a wedding, a full grown one. Let me see. It is 3 o'clock, and we can't have the wedding later than 9. Six hours is rather a short time, but things grow rapidly in California. And that telegram shall not be read until the wedding is over."

That was a busy afternoon not only for the inmates of Los Olivos, but also for all who lived in the other half of the country house near by. Telephones and automobiles were pressed into service. Joyce asked her neighbors to give her their flowers and their time to lend her their servants, the contents of their refrigerators and any other thing that they might have which could be utilized for a wedding.

The call was met gladly. It was not only that the colony had many things in common, but the merry little eastern girl had won all hearts. It would be delightful to have her safely married to one of their number.

"Pray don't ask me to waste my breath telling you why," Joyce gasped. "Explanation will come in due time. A little later, Currie, please. Now, Marilee, remember that you are to run into Los Angeles and bring out the Rev. Alexander Hunt, who is to perform the ceremony; ten yards of No. 7 white satin ribbon, a corkscrew and a freezer full of ice cream."

The arrangements were completed. Just as the clock in the hall struck 9 some one struck up a wedding march, and the bridal couple descended the stairs. The front parlor was a bower of white, golden centered Cherokee roses. Long sprays of them made an arch on that side of the room where the clergyman stood waiting, and the carpet was strewn with snowy petals for Carol's white satin slippers to tread upon.

The bride was arrayed in a dainty white frock that had come home from the dressmaker only the day before. She wore her mother's pearls on her neck and arms, orange blossoms in her belt and Mrs. Lankard's wedding veil. The girl's face was pale, but her eyes were clear and steady. The young couple had no attendants. Harry gave the bride away, and Joyce hovered near, satisfaction and anxiety curiously blended upon his face.

As soon as congratulations were over the wedding dinner was served. The menu was not along the conventional lines of wedding dinners, but its excellency was surprising to the masculine part of the company.

"The fish the Gardeners sent up from San Diego for our Sunday dinner is excellent. Is it not?" Mrs. Duke asked of her next door neighbor.

"Indeed it is. Was it not fortunate that both Currie and I planned to have fresh salmon for dinner tonight?"

The dinner was hurried a little as the newly wedded pair were to motor into town. That would enable them to take a boat the next morning for Santa Catalina island, where their honeymoon was to be spent. While Carol and Ronald were upstairs changing their clothes the Hunters told the story of the telegram.

"Here, Carol! You must read your uncle's message before you start; you really must, dear," Joyce cried as the bride descended the stairs, arrayed in her navy blue traveling suit.

"Very well. Nothing matters now," Carol said with a fond look at Ronald. She tore open the envelope and read aloud:

New York, April 4.
My consent and blessing. Shall I come on for the wedding?
JAMES WHITE.

Frog Industry in France.

It is in France that the frog was first generally used for food, and it is in that country that the industry of frog farming has been most largely developed. The green frog exists abundantly throughout France wherever there are marshes, ponds or sedge margins of rivers or bays that contain fresh or slightly brackish water.

The best outfit for frog raising is one or more shallow ponds or reservoirs filled with grasses and other water plants. It should be so situated that the water can be partially drawn off so as to facilitate the labor of catching. If, as is often the case, the pond already abounds in frogs they are simply protected and left for a year or two to propagate. If food does not prove abundant the owner throws in live earthworms, as the frog is a voracious animal and prefers the food, whether worms, larvae or insects, fresh and in normal living condition. If no frogs exist in the water they are planted, either living or in the form of eggs, which hatch when the water becomes warm. In April—Popular Mechanics.

And Other Ladies.

After making out a list of his awards of medals and prizes one of the jurors of the Paris exposition of 1900 decided to celebrate the completion of his labors by giving an informal little dinner at which the members of the jury, representing many nationalities, could meet far more agreeably as private individuals; hence it was decidedly unexpected when, after they had reached the stage of coffee and cigars, the British member of the jury rose with great solemnity and said, "Gentlemen, I propose the health of her majesty the queen."

This staggered everybody for a moment; but, innate courtesy overcoming national prejudice, they quickly pulled themselves together and drank the toast with all the honors.

No sooner, however, had this been accomplished than the American member rose and, holding his glass in the air, said simply, "And other ladies."

Needless to say this equally unexpected toast was received with enthusiasm by all.

Easily Remedied.

An old lawyer who is a noted wit has for a partner another old fellow who is very conservative and straitlaced. Recently the wit remarked to his partner that it was advisable to employ a female stenographer in the office, maintaining that stenographers of that variety were much more satisfactory than males.

But the partner didn't like the idea. "My dear fellow," he objected, "I don't think it would be proper. It wouldn't do. wouldn't do at all. You see, here I should be in the office hour after hour every day, quite alone with the young lady, and—"

"Well," observed the wit, with a twinkling eye, "couldn't you holler?"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

AT $2 PER DAY.

And the Hired Man's Wages Have Not Yet Been Paid.

By CLAUDE ARNOLD.
[Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.]

"Now, mother, the man must go." "We might give him one more chance."

"He has been intoxicated four times in two weeks, and we can't put up with him any longer."

"But help is scarce, daughter, and where will we find another man?"

"I'll drive to the village and find one. The garden must be attended to and the lawns mowed. I'll offer as high as $2 per day until we can find a steady man by the month."

The Widow Deering and her daughter Jessie occupied the manor house on what was known as Deering hill, and the son, Fred, always took a run out on Saturdays and remained until Monday. There was an acre of ground around the house, and a man of all work was necessary.

Fred had been sent west on business, and in his absence the man was taking things easy. Miss Jessie had never been called upon to take the reins of management into her own hands.

After the talk with her mother she went out and made ready the pony cart.

She had never hired a man in her life, but she had no doubt whatever as to her ability to make a good choice.

On her way to the village she stopped at the home of a friend to ask her if she knew of any competent man. Her friend, as luck would have it, had not half an hour before, sent a man along the road because she had no work for him.

"If you hurry you might overtake him, dear," she said to Miss Jessie. "He was pretty well dressed and not more than twenty-five or thirty years old. You're sure to see him in the village."

Miss Jessie hurried on, and when she reached Main street her eye fell upon a young man sauntering aimlessly along. He was fairly well dressed and seemed to be about twenty-five years old. He looked, too, as if he had been walking along a dusty road. Miss Jessie drew rein and passed slowly by. Then, suddenly making up her mind that this was the man she sought, she turned about and stopped beside him.

"Are you looking for work, my good man?" she asked.

"The young man turned toward her. He removed his cap and the cigar he was smoking before replying. "If it is anything I can do, madam," he said. "You can hoe and weed the garden?"

"I think so."

"And run a lawn mower?"

"Yes."

"And there may be other little odd jobs about the place. I have just discharged our man for intoxication and laziness. I want some one to take his place until my brother Fred gets home. What wages do you ask?"

"You may name the figure," he replied.

"Will $2 per day be enough?"

"I will do my best to earn that amount."

"Are you ready to go now?"

The man could not drive back with her, but would follow within a couple of hours. Oh, yes, she could depend upon him. He had been out of work a long time and was pleased to get a job. Miss Jessie was satisfied. She had caught a queer twinkle in his eyes two or three times, but in her gratification at having hired a man with so little delay she forgot the twinkles.

"I told you I could, and I have," she announced as she rushed into the house on her return.

"You mean you have hired a man?" queried the mother.

"Of course. He'll be here within two hours. I must now go out and tell White to go."

"Be gentle with him."

While was sober enough to understand that he must go.

Meanwhile the newly hired man had been making ready to follow his employer. He had made a number of inquiries of the village innkeeper, overhauled his trunk and made up a bundle of clothing, but he had not shaved. He arrived at the manor just in time to face an emergency. The discharged man was at the kitchen door demanding a month's extra pay and telling what he would do if it was not forthcoming.

Halley had the remedy at his finger tips. He placed his bundle on a bench and advanced upon Mr. White, picked him up and carried him to the roadside fence and threw him over. As he returned to his bundle Miss Jessie smiled at him.

The newly hired man was given a room over the kitchen. He and the attending cook ate dinner at the kitchen table. She wanted to know all about him. Halley didn't say he had tramp- ed it, but she inferred as much; he didn't say he had

Recreation Building Proposed

Hist Crew May Survey Henderson's Point

Combustible Building Job Goes to Local Firm

Are Both Good Men

In addition of Civil Engineer A. J. Menocal to the department of public works gives this station the service of two of the best and most able engineer officers of the navy. Engineers White and Menocal are recognized as men who do things and Portsmouth yard is to be congratulated in having these efficient and most genial officers doing duty in this department.

Local Firm Gets Building Contract

The contract for the building for storage of combustibles at the yard has been awarded to C. H. Holmes of this city who will shortly begin operations for the same. The structure will be 120 by 50, one story in height and a basement at one end.

A Chance to Buy Furniture

A sale of condemned articles of furniture will be held at the marine barracks at 2 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 18.

Jack and Bill on Leave

William H. Kenniston, a former employee of the blacksmith shop and John Hayes, for years employed as a furlough from the Soldiers' Home at Tilton.

Hist to Survey the Point

The crew of the survey ship Hist have been ordered to make a sweep and survey of Henderson's point, which will probably be the last move of the kind made by the government at this place. Previous years this work has been done by the men from the gunboat Eagle.

Still After Recreation Building

Chaplain C. H. Dickens is again at work on the matter of a recreation hall for this station, and on Monday had a personal interview with the secretary of the navy concerning the same. The secret stated that he was heartily in sympathy with such a move and promised all aid possible in the matter on his return to Washington. Chaplain Dickens, when stationed here before, made a fight for this need improvement and in renewing the battle he has received great encouragement for his scheme. Should he be successful, it is likely that part of the old ordnance building will be remodeled for the purpose.

To Land Duty

Howard Braun of this city, electrician on the U. S. S. Southern, has been transferred to duty at the wireless station on Sevey's Island.

Things Look Better

The latest news relative to the beginning of work on the U. S. S. Maine given by the Herald has eased the minds of a score of workmen who have been on the anxious seat since this ship arrive here for discharge of crew.

Trouble on the Maine

Orders have been issued by Acting Secretary of the Navy Withrop for a complete investigation of the interior of the hold of the battleship Maine, with the idea of finding out why she burns more coal to the mile than any other ship in the navy and to remedy the evil, if possible. The Maine was eating up coal so fast in the world cruise that she left the fleet at San Francisco.

SURPRISE PARTY

To a Former Portsmouth Girl in this City Monday Evening

A very delightful surprise was given to Miss Mary Alice Dudley of Henniker on Monday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. G. M. London, No. 9 Pine street, by her former playmates of Portsmouth.

She was presented by Master Lawrence Dow with a beautiful gold ring, the gift being accompanied by a neat little speech. Although taken by surprise, she responded in a fitting manner.

The evening was most pleasantly passed with songs, games and phonograph selections.

There were forty of her young friends present, and when the party broke up, it was the unanimous sentiment that they had had a delightful time.

Tere cream, cake, cookies and candy were served.

The surprise was planned by Misses Catherine Cronin and Nora Canby.
